hat journal should correct. No or know in the Republican ranks wis east party divisions, or hold any candidate resonable for the views or the policy he may rone. We never think of enquiring whether a man was a Democrat, a Whit, or a Free Soller; secure us that he stands on the Republican Platform, and is capable and homest, and we still enstain him heartile. Our opposition to Col. Westworm's nomination springs from other causes whelly, and we will proceed to state the grounds of it:

First, His manifestion would until the opposition. That opposition is disorganized in part. It cannot defend the City Administration and its acts; it dare not meet the issues made by the sition. That opposition is disorganized in part. It cannot defend the City Administration and its acts, it dare not meet the issues made by the present National Administration. It has been over-taxed by both. The City Administration of the last year has oppressed property holders who sympathized with it, politically, by its looseness, extravagance and corruption, and seiranged bedies of its partires followers who linck for place and its spoil by its folly, impotence and westerfainess of paironage. The National Administration, through Senator Dovicas and his repeal of the Missouri Compromise, &c., for the last four years, has compelled honest and leading minds, on its side, to defend measures and uphold a policy, at war with their best feelings and noblest instincts, and they are not disposed to be forced, and will not be forced, if wisely met, to hazard mocess, or sacrifice any further their self-respect, by sestaining either. They would not correctly (if at all) oppose a citizen for Mayor who was fit for the place. Hooks of them would yote for such a man, fast for the move them. It would be a depart when to overthrow him. It would be a signal which would consent it, in an instant, and give to the contest a ficreeness not often witnessed in this determined.

contest a flerceness adt often witnessed in this city. Second, this nomination would weaken the Second, this nomination would weaken use Republican party.

There are in every large city thousands of worthy men who act with a political organization, not because they are partians, but because they think such organization nearer "the right" than any other. This class rarely attend the club rooma, or the primary meetings, or nominating conventions. We regres that they do not. It is a public lajury, and their loss. But so it is, they keep along and when the party to which they are most utached nominate mou who do not sait them, they either refuse to vote at all, or vote against them. Partimans, at such times, talk of "the general spathy," and complain of it. But this is not the true reason. It is mainly their infidelity, their seliminess, their insolent or low scheming, which rousse this class to make often a fearful, if silent, protest—to stand out, by action or inaction, against this disbonesty, injustice, or demagoguism. And such would be our position, in reference to this class, as believe, if Col. Wastrworm, though filey might not vote for his opponent. We must remember, also, that among those most hitter and personal Col. Wastrworms has stood foremost. The natural and necessary result is, that the unforgiving will not forget, and that those among us who believe him to be dishonest, will not vote for him. Now this chas is neither few in numbers nor wanting in power. It can seriously help or hurt my candidate or any party. It is not wise, therefore, to put ourselves or it, in a position in which conflict shall be inevitable, either in reference to the present or the future. There is a husbanding of strength essential in a party, and that husbanding should be isspecially practised now.

Fourth, Col. Wastrworm is an inbred and thorough partizan, and, as such, is not the man for the office. Republican party.

There are in every large city thousands of thorough partizan, and, or each, is not the man for the office.

We need not waste words on the first part of our proposition. Look to his record. He has fought his was machinery. Consider his speeches. They show beains—but brains excreised and exerted to one end—his own success or the detect of his fee. Read his paper. It is one appeal to prejudice and its power. It is a cold, if not calculating, record, is which art, shewdhess, cunning the mere party means and party skill, as employed to win success. No gental trust, no generous support of truth, no loyal argument in favor of right, justice, or liberty, warm any effort of his as rpeaker, writer, or editor. All is partinen, and, in a certain scue, narrow, and the mellist, thief, coward, adulterer, possibless, in this regard. The Tessa denounces him as Har, thief, coward, adulterer, possibless, in this regard. The Tessa denounces him as Har, thief, coward, adulterer, possibless, in this regard. siderable number of topublicans, because a sedefeated, be will carry down with him the balance of the ticket.

Now, Ar. Editor, it is notorious and undeniatile that John Wentworth, who aspires to the nomination for Mayor is highly obnexions to a large and respectable portion of the party who cannot bebrought to support him. They are not Republicans from party ties, but from conscientious convictions. They may not be strong enough to prevent his nomination, but they are probably numerous enough to beat him at the polit.
Remember, that it would only need the fisien to fa few hindred Republicans to defeat the whole ticket. We must deal with men and the work as we find them. If we meet with a rock in our path which cannot be removed, the witest way in to go around it, and not but ousterians out, in a vain attempt to break it.

These men do not oppose him because he may are been a Whig, Democrat, or Free Soller in former days; they have conquered their prejudices? in regard to former party associations, that they must support anything dublied Hepublican, regardless of fitness, honesty, meraity, or personal considerations.—Such is not the human nature of which the Republican organisation is composed. On the contrary, it is made up of reflecting, independent materials, each integer of which does its own thinking.

Mr. Wentworth, if he persists in being nominated, will less the support of more Republicans than any of us are prepared to beliave, until it will be too late for remedy. He will be surely

Mr. Olcutt commenced his lecture by considering the Chinese Sugar Case as a forage crop and a cereal. If sown is dealy like own, about the early part of April, by the first of July it will attain a height of about five feet, and is then in a condition to be cut and dried as hay is. The stubble choid be left untirached, and is a short time the action. is. The stubble should be left unfouched, and is a short time new should be left unfouched, and is a short time new should spring pand furnish a second crop in October. In this respect, it was of double the value of corn as a fudder, for corn yielded no second crop, in latitudes where the season is longer than it is becaut the North, three crous could be gathered. Mr. 2: D. Browns, of the Pattern office, states that live contings have been made in Viorida. Mr. Reinhund had made three in Georgia. In the Bulletin de la Societa Imperials Accumation, for April, 1885, M. D'Ivernois states that he made five prolific cuttings on a light and furtile roll, lui one on which he believed no other forage errop sould have grown at all in comparison in quantity. Hundreds of experiments were extant to prove the same description of not. The quantity gathered per acre was increase. The statements made by the Chairman were proofs of this. After three month's dryand for four or fire miles opposite the city and toth above and below, the river is crowded with vessels and rafts of all kinds, the residence of a soley and dirty population, and on many of which large numbers of poultry are reared. At the South West quarter of the suburbs in the Baropean quarier. The buildings are here salled Augs, or (betteries, and it was these build-ings which had better destroyed by fire at the date of the last advices. They are in a range, about one sand a half furbones in limits, built-iupon a fila raised on piles, and exparated from tipon a fila raised on piles, and exparated from upon a flat raised on piles, and separated from the river by a quay one hundred yards in becath, called Respondentia Walk. There were thir-teen hongs, including those of the Americana, (nglish, Dutch, French, Austrian, Swedich, Danish, Pars, and other merchants. Those merely consisted of four or five brick or stone agreed best with tarrid ellimines. There could be no comparison between the value of a crop, which would yield nine tuns of foother per arre, and one of grass, which from the same surface of soil, would only yield two tuns. One of its properties was early maturity; In this respect its was superior to Indian corn. Again, it did not require excessive mannring, nor did it greatly impoverish the soil. Cattle prefer it to any other fooder. It is more jutcy and nutritions than any other tood; for it was well known that sugar came contained more nonrishment than almost say regetable production now in daily use.
